FOREWORD

SALUTATIONS FROM THE STATE BAR

J. Thomas Crowe*

On behalf of The State Bar of California it is my privilege and pleasure to salute the SANTA CLARA LAWYER on the publication of its tenth anniversary edition. As a graduate of the University of Santa Clara and its School of Law I have been understandably proud of the consistent excellence of all issues of the LAWYER which I have observed as a subscriber throughout the past decade.

The articles, comments and case notes included in the SANTA CLARA LAWYER have been rather uniformly limited to the case and statutory law of the State of California, and all those responsible for such editorial policy must be commended for their obvious interest in and concern for the greatest needs of the overwhelming majority of practicing lawyers in our state.

All members of the State Bar are cognizant of and appreciate the tremendous amount of work and effort involved in the preparation of a law review, and they welcome each such helpful contribution to their endeavors to keep abreast of the constant and unending changes in the law brought about by legislative action and the decisions of our Appellate Courts. They are most grateful to the law students and their faculty advisors at the University of Santa Clara who perform the many arduous tasks incident to the composition, editing and publication of the SANTA CLARA LAWYER. They are equally grateful for the outstanding and remarkable quality of the assistance the LAWYER has afforded them in better serving those members of the public who have required or who may require their professional services; and I am delighted to have this opportunity to express their gratitude.
