II. Basis for Jurisdiction

Federal courts are courts of limited jurisdiction (limited power). Under 28 U.S.C. § 1332, a case in which a citizen of one State sues a citizen of another State or nation and the amount at stake is more than $75,000 is a diversity of citizenship case. In a diversity of citizenship case, no defendant may be a citizen of the same State as any plaintiff.

Statement of Claim (continuation in entirety)

This case involves an incident which took place on September 7, 2019 via online Twitter (Twitter Foundation), a cyber gathering, where United States citizens and others come together to exchange ideas both freely and candidly. The ideas and comments exchanged range in topics from the mundane to the comical. Quite frequently, the topics turn to state, local and federal governmental concerns.

Because the topics often touch on matters of serious concern regarding taxpayer money, the rhetoric can occasionally get fiery. At other times the topics touch on ideas affecting United States citizens' way of life and the direction of United States domestic policy.

The comment " HANG THEM ALL " by the Plaintiff prompted Defendants Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde to suspend Adrian Rangel's Twitter account - religiouserpico. Plaintiff contends that by suspending Plaintiff's account religiouserpico Defendants Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde violated Adrian Rangel's constitutional rights to (1) freedom of speech, (2) freedom of expression, (3) freedom of religion, (4) freedom of assembly, (5) freedom against unlawful seizure, (6) due process, (7) substantive due process and (8) equal protection of the United States Constitution:

I. Freedom of Speech

Responding to another Twitter post, Plaintiff posted or tweeted “ HANG THEM ALL” whereupon Twitter immediately suspended Adrian Rangel’s Twitter account named - religiouserpico. Adrian Rangel contends that his response “ HANG THEM ALL” was rhetorical, vague and deliberately ambiguous as to the “ them “ he had referenced in the phrase “ HANG THEM ALL” . In addition, Plaintiff contends that his “ HANG THEM ALL” response / tweet produced no action, was not imminent, nor was likely to occur. It is important to note that the Plaintiff is not a member of any extremist group. As such, Plaintiff contends that Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde violated his constitutional rights to Freedom of Speech by immediately suspending his Twitter religiouserpico account for Plaintiff’s tweet of “ HANG THEM ALL” .

II. Freedom of Expression

Similarly, Plaintiff contends that his post / tweet “ HANG THEM ALL” was rhetorical , very Chicagoan in vernacular, vague and deliberately ambiguous as to the “ them “ Plaintiff referenced. Again, Plaintiff contends that his “ HANG THEM ALL” tweet produced no action, was not imminent, nor was likely to occur. As such, Plaintiff contends that Defendants Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde violated his constitutional rights to Freedom of Expression by immediately suspending his Twitter religiouserpico account for Plaintiff’s use of the expression “ HANG THEM ALL” .

III. Freedom of Religion

Before the Defendants suspended Plaintiff's account, Plaintiff used Twitter to proclaim his religious beliefs to the public of being a Born Again King James Bible Only Christian. Plaintiff included the being Born Again King James Bible Only Christian in his Twitter profile. In addition, Plaintiff followed and was followed by a number of people on Twitter - one group being people of like-minded religious beliefs. Tangentially, Plaintiff contends that President Donald J Trump was nothing short of miraculously elected by God into the Presidency; most specifically because of Donald Trump's victory in light of the tremendous media, political and social resistance to his election to the Presidency of the United States. Plaintiff used Twitter to support what Plaintiff contends is Donald J Trump's nothing short of miraculous election to the Presidency. As such, Plaintiff's religious beliefs are intertwined with Plaintiff's support of Donald J Trump as President of the United States of America. Plaintiff contends that Defendants Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde violated Plaintiff's constitutional rights to Freedom of Religion by immediately suspending his Twitter religiouserpico account for Plaintiff's use of the phrase "HANG THEM ALL".

IV. Freedom of Assembly

Plaintiff contends that Twitter / Twitter Foundation have evolved past a mere online presence to comprise groupings of like-minded individuals who exchange a myriad of thoughts and expressions from the mundane to the comical to the social to the political to the economic to the religious to the global etc. Because Plaintiff used Twitter to communicate exchanges with individuals of like-minded religious and political beliefs, Plaintiff contends that Defendants Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde violated his constitutional - rights to Freedom of Assembly by suspending Plaintiff's religiouserpico account for Plaintiff's use of the phrase "HANG THEM ALL".

V. Freedom against unlawful seizure

Plaintiff used Twitter to express and propose his religious, political, social and moral beliefs etc to influence America to his way of thinking. As such, Plaintiff used Twitter to memorialize, catalogue and save many of his thoughts, ideas and philosophies. Plaintiff contends that by suspending his religiouserpico account Defendants Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde constructively seized Plaintiff's online records to his tweets or Twitter communications in suspending and denying access to Plaintiff to his Twitter records / communications. In so doing, Plaintiff contends that Twitter violated Plaintiff's constitutional rights against unlawful seizure – specifically Plaintiff's online Twitter tweets.

VI. Due Process Violations

Plaintiff contends that Defendants Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde violated his constitutional due process rights in that Twitter immediately suspended Plaintiff's religiouserpico account before holding or giving the Plaintiff any kind of hearing. Twitter's Appeal process resulted in a denial of Plaintiff's Appeal with little or no explanation by Defendants Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde for the continued suspension of Plaintiff's religiouerpico Twitter account.

VII. Substantive Due Process Violations

Plaintiff contends that Defendants Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde violated his constitutional substantive due process rights because Twitter immediately suspended Plaintiff's religiouerpico account before holding or giving the Plaintiff any kind of hearing. Even Twitter's Appeal process resulted in a denial of Plaintiff's Appeal with little or no explanation by Defendants Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde for the continued suspension of Plaintiff's religiouerpico account.

VIII. Equal Protection Violation

Plaintiff contends that Twitter Foundation, a California Nonprofit Corporation, and Twitter CEO Vijaya Gadde, a California citizen are both inside of United States legal jurisdiction and as such subject to the laws of the United States Constitution. Plaintiff further contends that Defendants Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde have illegally embarked upon an illegal circumvention of the United States Constitution in attempting to impose on United States citizens the legal cultures of foreign countries i.e. India, China, Russia, Germany, United Kingdom etc. Many of these foreign countries were once or still are considered third world countries because of their former or present totalitarian subjugation or colonizing regimes. As such, Plaintiff contends that Plaintiff's rights to equal protection by the laws of the United States Constitution have been violated by Defendants Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde's misguided application of a global and European Union type legal culture / philosophy in addressing United States citizens - in this specific case upon the Plaintiff for Plaintiff's use of the phrase "HANG THEM ALL".

Adrian Rangel v. Twitter Foundation et al

Relief Sought

For the above violations of Plaintiff Adrian Rangel's constitutional rights by the Defendants Twitter Foundation and Vijaya Gadde (in both her official and unofficial capacity), Plaintiff is asking this Court to award the Plaintiff both jointly and or severally $100,000,000.00 compensatory and $900,000,000.00 exemplary in damages for the above violations of Plaintiff Adrian Rangel's constitutional rights and for intentional and negligent infliction of emotional distress upon the Plaintiff for Plaintiff's use of the phrase "HANG THEM ALL".
