4. In addition, Plaintiff Dupart claims a common law trademark in KALEIDOKIDS and has filed for federal trademark protection in KALEIDOKIDS and has a pending application under serial number 88187059.

5. Plaintiff Dupart claims a common law trademark in “Kaleidoscope Milkshake.”

6. The Trademarks identified in paragraphs 2-5 will collectively be referred to herein as the “KALEIDOSCOPE MARKS.”

7. Further, Plaintiff Dupart holds a common law trademark in her professional and social media moniker “darealbbjudy” and she has 1.4 million followers on Instagram under the handle @darealbbjudy, in which she also claims a common law trademark, (hereinafter collectively referred to as “DRBBJ Marks”).

8. Plaintiff Shawntae Harris is known professionally as “Da Brat” and is a twice Grammy-nominated rapper and actress. Plaintiff Harris is the exclusive licensee of, and controls through her management company, the trademark in “Da Brat” which has been used in commerce by Plaintiff Harris since December 25, 1993 and for which she has applied for registration under serial number 88402711. Harris has 2.7 million followers on Instagram under the handle @sosobrat, in which she claims a common law trademark (hereinafter collectively referred to as “Da Brat Marks”).

9. The KALEIDOSCOPE MARKS, DRBBJ Marks and Da Brat Marks shall be collectively referred to as the “MARKS.”

10. Defendant Rodney J. Roussell is a YouTube gossip vlogger known as “M.C. Shakie” who has 81,500 followers on Instagram under the handle “@mcshakielive”; 40,700 subscribers on YouTube under the name “MC Shakie”; 2,392 followers on Facebook; and 7,605 followers on Twitter under the handle “@mcshakielive”. Defendant Roussell is also the owner and operator of “Sip Cosmetics” which sells cosmetic products.

11. On information and belief, Defendant Rodney J. Roussell is a felon convicted of bank fraud, forgery, monetary instrument abuse and access device fraud.

12. In an effort to gain interest and sales for his “Sip Cosmetics” brand, Defendant has engaged in a false and malicious YouTube and social media campaign of harassment, stalking, extortion, falsely designating the origin of products that feature the KALEIDOSCOPE MARKS, disparagement, invasion of privacy and defamation against Plaintiffs in an unlawful attempt to divert Plaintiffs’ customers to his own “Sip Cosmetics” products and to unfairly attempt to compete with the MARKS.

13. Plaintiffs have all rights and privileges in exclusive use to their MARKS, starting on the date of each federal filing and/or when Plaintiffs began first using the MARKS in commerce, in the case of their common law claims.

17. Defendant Roussell has created “fake news” stories on his social media accounts in an effort to defame, discredit, harass, and attempt to unfairly compete with Plaintiffs. For example, Defendant Roussell has staged “interviews” of people pretending, acting and/or otherwise falsely stating information about Plaintiff Dupart in “fake news” stories including falsely and maliciously reporting false information relating to the tragic drowning death of a minor child at Plaintiff Dupart’s property, through the interview of a person falsely posing as an eye witness; falsely reporting information about Plaintiff Dupart’s liability insurance through the interview of a person falsely posing as Plaintiff Dupart’s insurance adjustor; falsely stating that Plaintiff Dupart required people to sign Non-Disclosure Agreements (“NDAs”) before she would call the police for the minor child’s drowning; falsely stating that Plaintiff Dupart changed her name to avoid people finding out about her negative legal history; falsely reporting that Plaintiff Dupart engages in “child slavery”; falsely reporting that Plaintiff Dupart’s products come from China and carry the coronavirus (COVID-19); falsely reporting that Plaintiff Dupart was involved in lawsuits to which she was not a party; and falsely reporting that Plaintiff Dupart worships the devil and/or engages in voodoo. In addition, Defendant Roussell has posted revenge porn content directed at Plaintiff Harris, which both amounts to an invasion of privacy and placed her in a false light, as further alleged below.

18. This is not the first time that Defendant Roussell has found himself a defendant in a lawsuit alleging that he disseminates “fake news.” See Sheriff Gusman Sues New York Times Over Prison Rape Video, NOLA.COM (July 14, 2018), https://www.nola.com/news/crime\_police/article\_61dee9b2-eb06-5f1e-9193-960db18a326c.html. See also Complaint, Gusman v. However, the false, defamatory, malicious, and infringing posts featuring Plaintiff Dupart and Plaintiff Harris are exponentially more popular with his audience, with views ranging from tens of thousands to over one hundred thousand views, with a total number of views at 716,089 and the total number of consumer comments under these videos in the amount of 7,082 as of April 17, 2020.

24. Defendant’s malicious intent has been made clear by his own admissions. Indeed, Defendant stated “[a]ll in all today was successful! While there is a definite #method to my #madness and #purpose to my #petty it is paying off.” See Screenshots of Instagram and YouTube, attached hereto and incorporated herein as Group Exhibit A when he showed his viewing audience how his own Sip Cosmetic’s sales generated over $10,000.00 in sales during two days when he was engaged in the behavior against Plaintiff Dupart and Plaintiff Harris as complained of herein. See Video No. 18 from the foregoing chart; see also Exhibit A. On April 6, 2020, Defendant admitted that his Sip Cosmetics line had grossed more than $30,000.00 from his campaign against Plaintiff Dupart. See Screen Capture from Instagram, attached hereto and incorporated herein as Exhibit B. Defendant’s malicious intent is further demonstrated by his open admission that, at one point he had grossed over $10,000 by defaming and attempting to compete with Plaintiff Dupart; he went so far as to exclaim “[a]ll in all today was successful!

While there is a definite #method to my #madness and #purpose to my #petty it is paying off.”

See Exhibit A.

25. The goodwill and reputation for quality that Plaintiffs have worked so hard to cultivate have been threatened by Defendant Roussell’s actions. Defendant Roussell has used and continues to use the MARKS in his campaign to tarnish, defame, and unfairly compete with the MARKS, and to defame the Plaintiffs personally in an effort to sell competing goods to many of the same consumers served by Plaintiffs. Unless Defendant is enjoined from using the MARKS, such use will continue to cause consumer confusion, and will cause irreparable harm to Plaintiff.

26. Irreparable harm to Plaintiffs will also result as a consequence of Defendant Roussell’s smear campaign, wherein he has, among other things, publicly warned that “...I’m over here debated on whether to release Brat nudes or release the eyewitness interview at this point.” See Screenshots attached hereto and incorporated herein as Group Exhibit C. Plaintiffs have no adequate remedy at law to compensate them for these ongoing injuries.

27. This action seeks injunctive relief, damages, and other appropriate relief arising from Defendant Roussell’s willful acts of trademark infringement, unfair competition, defamation, invasion of privacy, false light, and tortious interference.

28. This matter is pled pursuant to the substantive laws of the State of Louisiana, which are made applicable hereto by the Erie Doctrine and/or the Constitution and laws of the United States of America.

29. Defamation is an actionable claim under Louisiana law, arising out of Louisiana Civil Code article 2315.

30. Libel and/or false light invasion is an actionable claim under Louisiana law, arising out of Louisiana Civil Code article 2315.

31. On or about March 29, 2020, Defendant Roussell posted a video on YouTube entitled: “M.C Shakie admits Darelbbjudy duped him (Lil James Tucker Momma Comes In At The End)” which, as of the date of filing, has had more than 43,476 views.

32. During the March 29, 2020 video, Defendant Roussell uses the mark “Kaleidokids” in connection with admitting that he falsely reported details regarding a child’s drowning in Plaintiff Dupart’s swimming pool, in an effort to further tarnish Plaintiff Dupart’s reputation in the community. The March 29, 2020 video also goes on to falsely state that Plaintiff is “playing on little kids’ disappointment and promising them stuff that they had no intention [...] to ever deliver.” 5:05-5:10.

33. Defendant Roussell’s campaign to attempt to destroy Plaintiff Dupart’s brand and to tortiously interfere with her contracts and business relationships is best understood by Defendant Roussell’s own threatening statements which include, in pertinent part:

Why isn’t she doing damage control or letting that kid out of the contract. Damage control to protect her brand and her business or just let the kid out of the contract [...] She is so immensely tied to her brand that if people perceive her in a bad light, they perceive the brand in a bad light. Of course that means less money [...]. Why the hell would she not protect her brand and do some type of damage control [...] release the kids or do something to protect her brand.

See Video No. 23, “M.C Shakie admits Darelbbjudy duped him (Lil James Tucker Momma Comes In At The End)” dated March 29, 2020 between 6:50 and 8:00.

34. Defendant Roussell’s numerous false statements and display of Plaintiff Dupart’s products in connection with his false statements, including that the products come from China and that Plaintiff Dupart is involved in child slavery and running child concentration camps or in any way contributed to the drowning of an infant, constitute untrue and defamatory statements which have caused Plaintiff Dupart damages, which continue to cause Plaintiff Dupart damages, and which will continue to cause Plaintiff Dupart irreparable harm should this Court decline to grant Plaintiff Dupart the relief requested hereinbelow. Defendant Roussell had no basis for the publication of the information included in the Videos and he knew and/or should have known that the statements would harm Plaintiff Dupart and in so publishing, Defendant Roussell's actions can be interpreted as having been performed with nothing other than intentional, deliberate and actual malice.

35. In fact, Defendant Roussell admitted that his intent was to cause the damages he was intentionally causing Plaintiff Dupart. See Video No. 23, "M.C Shakie admits Darealbbjudy duped him (Lil James Tucker Momma Comes In At The End)" dated March 29, 2020 between 6:50 and 8:00.

36. Defendant Roussell specifically stated, in relevant part: "Why isn't she doing "damage control" or "letting that kid out of the contract" [...] "damage control to protect her brand and her business" or "just let the kid out of the contract" [...] "[Plaintiff Dupart] is so publicly tied to the brand that if they see her in a bad light, they see the brand in a bad light. That means less money" [...] "Why the hell would she not protect her brand and do some type of damage control."

37. Defendant Roussell further admitted that he ran a false story about Plaintiff Dupart's involvement in the drowning death of an infant and stated: "I did not properly vet the person."

38. Defendant Roussell thus knew and/or should have known that the relevant videos would tarnish the reputation of Plaintiff Dupart and her brand, and that it would deter others from associating or dealing with Plaintiff Dupart and her brand, including causing significant harm to Plaintiff Dupart's ability to market her products and procure advertising and influencer relationships.

39. The conscious decision by Defendant Roussell to falsely make such repeated false statements was done with knowing and reckless disregard of the facts and actual malice towards Plaintiff Dupart and her brand.

40. The Videos, when read as a whole, are a conscious attempt to defame Plaintiff Dupart, her brand, her products, her personal relationships and her business relationships in a false light before the public.

41. Moreover, the Videos themselves are evidence of actual malice or intent to defame Plaintiff Dupart as they were clearly motivated by commercial competition, with intent to cause Plaintiff Dupart and her brands to lose favor in the eyes of the consuming public and community and/or to cause the consuming public and the community to subject Plaintiff Dupart and her brand to scorn, disdain, and/or ridicule, and to impede Plaintiff Dupart's ability to run her successful business, including but not limited to enforcing her own contracts.

42. The Videos were published without verification of any facts and with no regard for the impact and damage they would have on Plaintiff Dupart and her brand.

43. Defendants YouTube and Instagram were asked to remove the offending videos on numerous grounds, including, but not limited to, under the Digital Millennium Copyright Act notice and take down procedure. YouTube and Instagram failed to comply with any of Plaintiffs' requests for take down.

44. Plaintiffs, thus, request the entry of a court order requiring Defendant YouTube to remove the offending Videos or face vicarious liability for the continued publishing of the defamatory content.

45. As a result of the defamatory and untrue Videos, Plaintiff Dupart and her brand have been subjected to, continue to be subjected to, and will be subjected in the future to, irreparable harm in the form of a reduced market share, loss of income, difficulty in establishing advertiser relationships, increased exposure to litigation, including the enforcement of Plaintiffs' own contracts, damage to reputation, and unnecessary criticism from the consuming public and the community, and attempts to cause emotional distress.

46. The co-defendants should be ordered to comply with Plaintiffs' requests for emergency injunctive relief.

COUNT I

FEDERAL TRADEMARK INFRINGEMENT, UNFAIR COMPETITION, AND FALSE DESIGNATION OF ORIGIN (15 U.S.C. § 1125(a))
AGAINST DEFENDANT ROUSSELL

59. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate by reference the allegations of paragraphs 1-58 inclusive, as though fully set forth herein.

60. As their first ground for relief, Plaintiffs allege federal trademark infringement and unfair competition and false designation of origin under Section 43(a) of the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a).

61. Plaintiff Dupart has offered goods and services in classes 03, 05 and 44 USPTO trademark classifications since on or about 2013. These include cosmetics, pharmaceuticals and hair salon services under the KALEIDOSCOPE MARKS. It has used the KALEIDOSCOPE MARKS continuously in United States commerce since the dates identified in paragraphs 2-5 above.

62. Plaintiff Dupart's goods and services are sold under Plaintiff Dupart's KALEIDOSCOPE MARKS in commerce throughout the United States, as well as on the website <https://iluvcolors.com/collections/classic-products>.

63. Plaintiffs have advertised their goods and services in popular national social media channels such as Facebook and Instagram and traded in interstate commerce for the purchase of Plaintiffs' branded materials and equipment.

64. Plaintiffs have invested substantial time, effort and financial resources promoting their MARKS in connection with the marketing and sale of their goods and services in interstate commerce. The MARKS have become, through widespread and favorable public acceptance and recognition, an asset of substantial value as a symbol of Plaintiffs' quality products and goodwill. The consuming public recognizes the MARKS and associates them with Plaintiffs.

65. Plaintiffs' MARKS are inherently distinctive as applied to Plaintiffs' goods and services that bear the mark.

66. Notwithstanding Plaintiffs' established rights in the MARKS, Defendant Roussell has begun a smear campaign using Plaintiffs' MARKS to unfairly compete by linking Plaintiffs' MARKS with Defendant Roussell's products by creating controversies to promote and advertise his own cosmetics line, Sip Cosmetics.

67. On information and belief, Defendant Roussell has not filed an application for trademark registration at the United States Patent and Trademark Office for the use of the MARKS nor filed for any state trademark protection.

68. Defendant Roussell offers his products on the same advertising and social media platforms, namely Facebook, Instagram and YouTube, that also offer Plaintiffs' goods and services, and at <https://sipcosmetics.net/collections/shop>.

69. Without Plaintiffs' consent, Defendant Roussell has used and continues to use the MARKS in connection with the sale, offering for sale, distribution or advertising of its Sip Cosmetics goods. Indeed, Defendant Roussell even ran an offer code for a sale on his Sip Cosmetics called "FUCKJUDY".

70. Defendant Roussell's actions in using the MARKS without authorization and with false information, as stated above, are likely to mislead the public into concluding that Defendant Roussell is authorized by Plaintiffs to engage in such conduct, which will damage both Plaintiffs and the public.

71. Defendant Roussell has advertised and offered his goods for sale using the MARKS with the intention of misleading, deceiving or confusing consumers as to the origin of his goods and of trading on Plaintiffs' reputations and goodwill. Defendant Roussell's use of the MARKS in promoting his own competing products constitutes willful, deliberate, and intentional trademark infringement and an unfair attempt at competition.

72. Defendant Roussell's unauthorized use of the MARKS in interstate commerce as described above constitutes trademark infringement and unfair competition under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a) and has caused and is likely to continue to cause consumer confusion, mistake, or deception.

73. Defendant Roussell's unauthorized marketing and sale of his products in interstate commerce using the MARKS constitutes a use of a false designation of origin or false representation that wrongfully and falsely designates Defendant Roussell's products as originating from or connected with Plaintiff Dupart in violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a). The actions of Defendant Roussell as alleged herein constitutes intentional, willful, knowing and deliberate unfair competition. In addition, Roussell is introducing his products to Plaintiff Dupart's customer base without her consent by using her name and her MARKS, and disparaging her and her MARKS to increase his visibility and sales of his products.

74. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant Roussell's trademark infringement and acts of unfair competition, Plaintiff Dupart has suffered and will continue to suffer irreparable loss of income, profits, and goodwill, and Defendant Roussell has and will continue to unfairly acquire income, profits, and goodwill.

75. Defendant Roussell's infringement of the MARKS has caused great damage to Plaintiffs. The amount of these damages is not yet known, but Plaintiffs have lost profits and royalties as a direct result of the infringements and conduct complained of and is entitled to damages adequate to compensate it for the infringement, and to have such damages trebled, under 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a) and (b), or, alternatively, statutory damages up to $2,000,000 per type of goods or services sold, offered for sale, or distributed, as the Court considers just, under 15 U.S.C. § 1117(c). Plaintiffs are also entitled to recover costs under 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a) and prejudgment interest under 15 U.S.C. § 1117(b). This is an exceptional case, and Plaintiffs should further be awarded its attorneys' fees under 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a).

76. As a result of Defendant Roussell's infringement of Plaintiffs' trademark rights, Plaintiffs have suffered and continue to suffer irreparable harm due to the confusion, mistake, and/or deception that will be generated among the trade and the public and the resulting impairment of the value of its trademark rights, continuing loss of sales to its existing and potential customers, continuing loss of the goodwill of its customers, and violation of its trademark rights, all of which will continue unless Defendant Roussell is preliminarily and permanently enjoined by this Court from infringing the MARKS under 15 U.S.C. § 1116. Plaintiffs have no adequate remedy at law and this matter is an emergency because Defendant Roussell continues to post false videos on a daily basis and continues to falsely associate Plaintiff Dupart's brand with the coronavirus and child slavery. Irreparable harm to Plaintiffs will also result as a consequence of Defendant Roussell's smear campaign, wherein he has, among other things, publicly warned that "...I'm over here debated on whether to release Brat nudes or release the eyewitness interview at this point." See Group Exhibit C.

77. The fact that Defendant Roussell is engaged in this false and malicious behavior during an international pandemic where nearly all consumers are at home and a captive audience to his false hate speech that further incites violence demonstrates the nature of the emergency in requiring Defendants to be enjoined.

94. Despite Plaintiff Dupart's demands, Defendant Roussell has intentionally, actively, and deliberately refused to comply, has neither ceased nor desisted from his wrongful actions, and has intentionally and deliberately persisted in his wrongful use of the KALEIDOSCOPE MARKS.

100. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate by reference the allegations of paragraphs 1-99 inclusive, as though fully set forth herein.
